THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL

CHURCH AWAKENING To Its Responsibilities in Korea-Relief for Overburdened Missionaries -A Self-Denial Offering Sunday, January 29.

New York, Jan. 25 .- The Methodist Episcopal church in the United States is awakening to the fact that she has given the men and women whom she has sent as her representatives to Ko-has sent as her representatives to Korea burdens beyond the power of human beings to endure.

Methodism began work in Korea about twenty-five years ago. During the last few years a remarkable revival has swept over Chosen. This revival, with its thousands of converts, has so increased the labors of the missionaries that many are breaking down under the strain. They are crying out for help. And yet not in the spirit of complaint. Their ery is more the utterance of such men at W. Carl Rufus of Pyeng Yang, who teaches in the Union college in that northern city, is pastor of Drew-Appenzeller Memothe Union college in that northern city, is pastor of Drew-Appenzeller Memorial chapel, and head of a circuit of six churches with over 1,000 members, whose native leaders he has to guide. The students of his school were preachers in the recent ten days' campaign which brought 4,000 converts into the churches. The missionary, having broken down under the strain, writes:

"The school is again in session while I am lying here on my back. The hardest thing I have had to do since I hardest thing I have had to do since I came to Korea was to give up my work for the rest of this term. After diet and tonic and nerve had done their best, and work and disease had won, when another acute attack brought me to face the fact that I had to give up, I bawled. Pardon the baby act, I wasn't a man; I was sick. But think of the situation; paucity of workers; abundance of work; unparalleled opportunity, right in the midst of the Pyeng Yang evangelistic campaign. Do you wonter that I kept up as long as I could, inviting leaders to come to the house to try to give them inspiration and direction, when I was unable to walk? Do you wonder that my reto walk? Do you wonder that my re-maining strength was entirely exhaust-ed in this work, and when I had to give up, my first act was to fall in a dead faint from sheer weakness before I landed safely on my back in bed? Friends in America please do not think that this is a complete. that this is a complaint. I am content-ed with my lot. I would not exchange with you, doctor, lawyer, merchant or chief. And above all, please do not more than any man is simply a heart to heata ttalk, be-cause I wish you to see the situation as it appeals to us in Korea; especial ly to one counting the days go by and eagerly awaiting the slow return of strength to be able to get back to his post.—Yours for Christ in Korea."

This and similar revelations of the magnitude of the work being done there is stirring the church at home there is stirring the church at home to do something more than has been done. Beside the native Korean converts to Christianity are setting such an example of self-sacrifice as to stim-ulate like sacrifice among those whose missionaries are leading the Koreans to Christianity. The Korean Christians give of their time, so many hours a year, of their money, and women are even giving their wedding rings in or-der that others may hear the gospel Because of all these things January 9 has been set apart as Korea day in

SEVENTH BALLOT, NO CHANGE

Evidences of Break in the Deadlock Appear in Several Quarters-Voters Urged to Take Radical Action

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 25.—Evidences of a break in the deadlock in the legislature over the election of a United States senator appeared tonight in several quarters. Although there was no organized movement, individual members were more open in expression their discretion with the receiper that the receiper their discretion with the receiper that the receipe ing their dissatisfaction with the pro-longation of the situation and de-velopments are expected in the joint assembly by another week. No one could be found, however, who was ready to predict that the situation would show any outward change in the three days which remain for balloting this week.

Until today prospects of a break were based on the efforts made by the supporters of William F. Sheshan to win over chough votes from the 25 democrats who refused to attend the democrats who refused to attend the democratic caucus to affect Mr. Sheehan's election. But today after Norman E. Mack, the national chairman, and Winfield A. Huppuch, state chairman of the democratic organization, had tried in vain to bring the "insurgents" into line, some of those who voted for Mr. Sheehan mainly because they considered it their duty under caucus obligation. Vegan to look under caucus obligation, Jegan to look for a solution of the problem.

Indeed, tonight, one of the most prominent Tammany men acknowledged that the leaders were discussing the possibility of abandoning Mr. Mr. Sheehan for another candidate.

Vote Unchanged. The apparent hopelessness of the situation was illustrated today when the seventh joint ballot gave tee eleven democratic candidates exactly the same vote as they received yester day.

The prevailing impression tonight was that the leaders behind Mr. Sheehan have not yet given up hope that the opposition would weaken; but several up-state democrats who voted against Sheehan in the caucus but accepted the decision of the caucus ed against Sheehan in the caucus but accepted the decision of the caucus majority, discussed a plan today to serve notive on Charles F. Murphy, Tammany's leader, that if the dead-lock continued much longer they must call for another candidate. They decided, however, not to act until next week.

Radical Action Urged.

Some of these legislators said they were being showered with letters and telegrams from home urging them to take some radical action. Their action. they said, did not mean hostility to Mr. Sheehan—only a recognition of the belief that he cannot be elected and a desire to clear the situation and let the legislature get down to its regu-
